MCSEEP Launches Lesson Library

WOODSTOCK, IL – Through the generosity of Siemens Industry, Inc., the McHenry County Schools Environmental Education Program (MCSEEP) officially launched the MCSEEP Lesson Library on Thursday, September 30. The goal of the MCSEEP Lesson Library is to help educators create meaningful environmental lessons, and provide the resources for those lessons at no cost to McHenry County schools that have the MCSEEP lessons.

The library is updated weekly with current articles on environmental issues in McHenry County. Resources offered include: books, games, lesson plans, movies, posters, and a collection of unique environmental materials.

To sign up for lessons and create your schedules, go to the following website: www.mcseep.com and click on the link “lesson sign-up” on the left side of the page. Select your school, enter the recycling coordinator’s name and email.

MCSEEP is a countywide provider of diverse, comprehensive environmental education whose purpose is to foster awareness, concern, and action regarding environmental issues, both locally and globally. MCSEEP K-12 presentations address the environmental issues facing today’s students.
